Male Animal Seems To Be Losing His Grip

One hundred years ago today this was a wilderness, and a man with powder in his gun went out to hunt a deer. Ten years ago it wasn't any wilder-ness, and a dear with powder on her nose went out to hunt a man.

What it will be in another few decades is something we can only worry about. And if anyone has any doubts about the general status of women being on the upgrade, and if any mere male has never experienc-ed fears that the female of the species may some day take over this old wreck we call a world, take a look at the Wink-ler family and start shivvering in your B. V. D.'s.

The Winkler women, out north of Hondo, haven't gotten drastic yet — they are still experimenting with animals. Their hubbies, Jack, Walter and Alfred, took them out hunting last weekend. Mrs. Jack, Mrs. Walter, and Mrs. Alfred shot 8. 6, and 8 point bucks respectively.

Their hubbies, the men, the traditional hunters and prowiders — Well, they missed.

New Hondo Air Marker On Alamo Roof

Hondo Mayor J. A. Horger this week received the compliments of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Dept. of Commerce, for the "air marking" of Hondo, which was done here in conjunction with "Air Marking Week" proclaimed by Gov. Beauford Jester.

Hondo is provided with an air marker on the roof of the Alamo Lumber Company through the efforts of Manager R. R. Corder, a pilot himself, and the Hollaway Flying School.

Baby Contest Closes, Santa Letters Begin

The Anvil Herald baby contest drew to a close this week with nearly 150 pre-school age children entered, pictures of all of whom will be published in The Anvil Herald with the first group starting probably in January.

While the main purpose of the contest was to make a large number of children's pictures available for publication, on the theory that there's no picure like a child's picture, three cash prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded to the "cutest" and the next two runners-up.

Because the coupons were rushed to the photographer so he could arrange appointments as soon as possible, it is still impossible to tell the exact number of entries. Many families entered as many as three children and there were at least two sets of twins.

And amid the flurries of baby coupons on all Anvil Heraid desks, the close of one contest marked the opening of another as the annual Anvil Herald "Letter to Santa" contest got under way with over 50 entries for the first week. First five of the Santa letters appear this week on page 2, but that does not mean the others received so far are out of the competition. All letters received that are not published automatically move forward to the next week's competition where they have another

This contest will run for three weeks, with the grand prize winner being announced in the Christmas edition.

Entries received during the past week before the deadline included W. L. Birtrong, Mrs. H. B. Eggen, Ward Boehme, Harley Tschirnart, B. E. Steifer, Alfred Winkler, Mrs. Daniel F. Peanut Farmers Vote Dec. 9 On Price Support

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

Any person who shared in the proceeds of peanuts produced in 1947 on a farm on which the 1947 acreage of peanuts picked or threshed is more than one acre. This includes, owners, tenants, and sharecroppers sharing in the proceeds of the crop. Each eligible voter is entitled to one vote.

The peanut referendum will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 9, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the following places: AAA Office in Hondo; Biry's Store in Biry; Courthouse in Devine, and Penland's Barber Shop at Natalia.

WHO CAN VOTE? Owners, tenants and sharecroppers who share in more than one acre of peanuts (picked and threshed) from this year's crop are entitled to one vote each. Interest in "hogged off" peanuts does not count.

IF TWO-THIRDS VOTE YES full price support at 90 percent of parity will be available in 1948. All farmers who plant within their acreage allotments can get this support on their peanuts. Quotas will be in effect for the 1948, 1949 and 1950 crops.

IF MORE THAN ONE-THIRD VOTE NO there will be no price supports for peanuts for edible uses. Only peanuts sold for crushing can be supported . . . at about 45 percent of the parity price for edible peanuts. Another referen-dum will probably be held next

Castroville VFD, Legion Plan New Building

CASTROVILLE - The building committee of the Fire Department, Winifred Whitehead, Wilfred Wernette, Dr. Woodrow Sharp and Archie Jagge and the Legion Committee headed by F. Zinsmeyer, Floyd Tondre, Eugene Suehs and J. F. Schott met with Mr. Milton Batot of Hondo to work over the plans for the new fire house and Legion Hall. Batot will draw up the blue prints and specifications and if ok'd by the Building Committee it will be given out on contract, the lowest bidder and the best contractor to get the job.

HONDO, LACOSTE VFW POSTS SLATED TO PARTICIPATE IN BROADCAST SUNDAY

District 11 of the Veterans of Wars, which includes Hondo, LaCoste, Uvalde and Del Rio, won statewide top honors in the recent membership drive with a total off 11 per cent sign-up over last year, and as reward will participate in a statewide broadcast at 2 p.m. Sunday originating in Uvalde, central city of the dis-

Hondo signed up 92 per cent of its last year's membership in the time required, and LaCoste 40 per cent. Del Rio signed 71 per cent and a slam bang campaign at Uvalde with 159 per cent brought the average over 100, unequalled by any other district in Texas.

There was no definite word as to when these greatly needed improvements would come, but Webster revealed that Bell District Manager S. L. Miller of San Antonio had, in various conferences, promised that these improvements for Medina County were first on the docket and Webster said he hoped it would be sometime in Welcome road news received its share of the spotlight as Webster announced that the stretch of Hwy. 90, when improved from the Hondo bridge to D'Hanis, would occupy its present bed rather than being moved around the outskirts of town as some had expected, and that the much needed exten-sion of 18th Street, formerly "North Front" St., to join with 173 east of town on the north side of the highway, was being considered and would probably be approved. This extension becomes increasingly important to relieve congestion of through traffic on Hwy. 90 as local traific increases constantly. The extension would shift the burden of local traffic across the tracks and put an end to the Highway Dept.'s threat to move Hwy. 90 out of town.

The chamber's "Program for the Future" was optimistic and met with favor from assembled members. Top priority for '48, said Webster, would be attracting a wool industry to Hondo. The national wool industry is surveying the state of Texas for industrial possibilities, and Hondo's facilities and location make it rate high as a potential site.

The chamber can only try for that, however. For concrete work here in Hondo, the program includes "complete utilization of the recreational facilities at the airfield and a recreational program. The field's facilities include tennis courts, ball fields, a swimming pool and a picnic ground with barbecue pits. If these facilities are all integrated in a general cham-ber program the field can become a garden spot for Medina County people as well as becoming a great attraction for prospective residents and business. Webster announced that the future also holds possible integration of the various Home Demonstration, Future Farmer, 4-H and other exhibits and shows to build them into a sort of county fair. Many Hondoans have realized for some time that Medina County actually does have a county fair, but it has it spread out through the year and in different locations thus losing much o. the spirit and much of the success that could come with a general, cooperative Guests at the C. of C. meeting included W. H. Wallingford, president of Alamo Pottery, Inc., San Antonio, Frank "Slim" Price, Manager of the Hondo branch of Alamo Pottery, Sam Goldfarb, Ala-mo Pottery Sales Manager, Jim Gallagher of the Southwest Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Leon Taylor, Public Relations Director of Trinity University who gave the main address of the evening on "Retailing.

Santa Claus Letter Contest Opens The Hondo Anvil Herald, Medina County, Texas, Friday, December 5, 1947

Well, well, kiddies. Time sure hustles by in a hurry, doesn't it? Here it is my time again and there are only four more tough weeks of checking over the record books before I make my midnight ride all over the country to bring you a little good cheer and maybe — MAYBE — a present or two — heh heh.

I got together with my friends over at The Anvil Herald and we checked over the letters you have sent so far, and they look pretty only have three weeks to win a prize for getting your letter published in the paper and maybe winning the big prize for the best letter published each week, and then the GRAND PRIZE FOR THE BEST LETTER OF THEM ALL! So get busy, kids

And remember, you must write your letters yourself. No help from your mommy or other relatives. I can tell, you know

I sent my friend the editor around to talk to a few Hondo businessmen and he reports that the ones who will help me out this year are Mr. Harry Kollman Sr. of Western Auto, Mr. Bill Windrow of Windrow's Drug Store, and Mr. Buster Rath, the automobile man. All three of these men are getting big shipments of toys from me and they are going to be my representatives in awarding the prizes.

Mr. Kollman is going to give the prize for the best letter pub-good. Seems like their should be a lot more, though, you know you paper comes out. So read the letters below and see which one you think is best. Then in next week's paper the winner will be announced, and the next five letters will be published. Well, here we go:

Dear Sant Claus we wint to the zoo about a month ago it was fun we road the elephants. we watched he monkys, and we watched the seals. And there were eagles with big calws. And there were big fish to if I had a fishing pole I would have thrown it in. Roy Leon Mercer for a fishing pole?

Dear Santa. I hope you will have enough toys to go around the world. I want a bible and a fountain pin, and that is all. I want you to bring the polio ward in San Antonio lots of candy and other things. In Robbrt B. Green hosbittle I was sick with polio two years the policy in the hosbittle almost three months. My brother had the ago. I was in the hosbittle almost three months. My brother had the ago. I was in the hospittle aimost three months, my brother had the same sickness before I had it. My cousin had it before my brother had it. All three of us were very sick. Well that is all Santa Claus. I will have to close now.

Your friends Tommy Pichot

Dear Santa,

I want came dishes, and a doll buggy, want a baby boll.

I am a little girl. I have try to be good. I am in the second grade. If you will bring allt his I will send you a fruit cake. I hope you will like it.

I hope you and Mrs. Santa have a merry Xmas. Barbara Ann Wernette

Dear Santa Claus

I would like to have a football and it hast to be a strong one because we play roff and bring me a noodle too and pleas bring and some arrows for my bow and arrow maybe nex Christmas I can have a b-b gon, you may come in any door you want to thay will be unchook you may come any time I will try to see you when you

Wilbur Karl Grell

What do you want for Christmas? I'll have the chimney : clean that it will shine. I'll put a pad in the bottom of the chimnes of you won't have such a harn landing. Also I'll put a glass of on the table and two cookies there too. I want a watch for Christmas Love, Clyde Bohmfalk Age 9

That's a lot of bargaining power, Clyde.

So that's it for the first week of the contest. Remember, let ters for next week's contest must be in The Anvil Herald office by Monday, and any letters that come after that will be held over for the contest the week after. Get busy now, all of you, and send your letters to Santa Claus, care of The Hondo Anvil Herald, Hondo. This week's winner will be announced next week.

Every poultry raiser wants to get top prices for his eggs. The best poultrymen have learned that the easiest way to do this is by improving their egg quality and egg marketing procedure.

Simply because eggs are in a shell too many people are in-clined to forget that they are just as perishable as fresh vegetables, milk, or fruit. Cooling the eggs quickly and keeping them cool is essential if egg quality is to be retained. The safest egg holding temperatures range between 40 and 60 degrees. Eggs should not be put in egg cases until they are well cooled. Wire baskets are recommended for gathering as this allows eggs to dry more quickly.

Keep Eggs Clean Clean nests, clean floor litter and frequent egg gathering are simple factors which assure cleaner eggs. A good uniform

LaCoste Takes Football Spotlight In County; Title Battle Friday

LeCoste's six man football train, the Eagles, closed a season this year with a 57-0 trousering of Fig Wells for their second district championship in a row. Whether it's a bigger season than last year depends on the outcome of the Dripping Springs game Friday night at San Marcos for Bi-District, but regardless of this week's fortunes the season just closed can be called terrific.

In ten games the Eagles amassed a total of 324 points while their combined opponents totaled only 38, making a game average thru the season of 32-4 for the Red and White Warriors. They hast one game on the field by a hair, to Catarina, but won it later in the council chambers 1-0 cm, forfeit when it was found that Catarina was playing ineligible mem.

When a game for district (22) championship ends up 57.0, one would naturally expect that to be one of the scason's greatest upsets It wasn't in this case. When LaCoste sailed into Yancey for the closer before Big Wells they were confronted with a record of outrageous scores perhaps higger than their own.

In fact, smart money might have favored Vancey, although either team looked like a poor betting risk at the time. The fast, alert Eagles knifed and hurdled through the Yancey Tigers for a 28-0 victory for the season's surprise. Yancey was badly off form, but that is no excuse in the annual fables of football fortunes. Perhaps it was the stellar defensive play of LaCoste that pushed the Tigers off form. At any rate, it looks like Dripping Springs will seed all the rabbits feet in Texas to overcome the Eagles.

LaCoste is coached this year by G. C. Herring Last year's champs were mentored by LaCoste Superintendent Matt Bader and missed the bi-district by only two points in a 20-18 loss to Weimar. In '44 and '45 the Eagles placed second in district play.

Herring's boys will be starting from scratch next year with 11 reniors vanishing from the grid tarf, and for that reason are considering going into 11 man football since they will have to completely rebuild anyway.

Graduates this year include Febert Hutzler, Ralph Land, Le-Roy Lutz, LeRoy Keffer, Carlysle Leffer, Vernon Bippert, Lee Allen Salzman, Henry Schirmer, Harvey Kunze, Lloyd Wengenroth and Bennie Smith. These 11 include all six of the present starting line-

With the Hondo Owls on the skids this year after a brilliant start, then the loss of one key man and finally ending up in their conference cellar, two other Medina County teams proved the scourges of South Texas — La-Coste and Yancey — which should prove something about Medina County football. Both of these six man teams were terrific all season until the Tigers finally bowed to the Eagles, and now the whole county looks to LaCoste to bring a major football crown to Medina County

ENTERTAIN PEP SQUAD, FOOTBALL TEAMS

Herb Mochring, L. A. Smith, Clarence Van Fleet, Fred McWilliams, Jim Lynch, and Toby Taylor entertained with a barbecue Tuesday night, Dec. 2, honoring the football boys and pep squad girls. Faculty members and members of the school board were also present.

Following the usual barbecue feast which Hondoans get from Tooy Taylor's barbecue grounds, the group saw a number of movies presented by Henry Windrow.

CYRIL SCHNEIDER LETTERS AT A. & I.

KINGSVILLE — Cyril Schneider of Devine has again lettered at end position for the Texas A & I Javelinas, Coach Dewey Mayhew announced today.

announced today.

Schneider's play showed considerable improvement over 1946, when he lettered as a freshman.

Team spirit characterized both seasons of play for Schneider, who has been a leader in adhering to training rules. Schneider has two more years of eligibility.

A & I compiled one of its best seasons in history, winning seven, tieing one, and losing one.

CARS FOR SALE

Why? Because the two bucks you pay for your subscription isn't enough to buy the paper your news is printed on. The advertisers make it possible for you to get 52 big editions for only $2.

And if, when you stop in at their places of business, you would drop a line like "I saw your ad in the Anvil Herald" it would give us more pleasure than scratching a place that itches.

We gotta keep 'em advertising if you folks want to keep on reading high class litterachoor like this.

The day for being thankful is past, but we believe in making worthy days like Thanksgiving into year-round projects.

So this week we are busy being thankful because our car's tires are so old. With such old tires we feel that we aren't losing so much when we take a chance on falling into those pits at the Hondo railroad crossings.

Just finished looking at a few of the daily papers, and it ocurred to us that this would sure be a lousy time for the meek to inherit the earth.

We haven't been able to make a final count yet, but it looks like we got over a hundred babies entered in our cutest baby contest. All of these future citizens will get their pictures published in the paper, a certain number each week, starting soon, until we run

Clearing Skies Aid Peanut Crop

Southwestern peanut growers welcomed clearing skies this week, which gave promise of drying fields and resumption of picking. Recent wet weather has not only delayed harvest but caused some damage to peanuts remaining in the fields, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reports.

Reports from the southeastern states indicate that a higher portion of the crop in that area remains unpicked for this season than for many years. Weather damage is expected to be heavy where the peanuts are not well stacked.

Farmers' stock peanuts sold generally at support levels during the week, with some premiums being paid for good lots. Higher peanut oil prices have again put the crushers in the market on a competitive basis with shellers.

Most shellers had slowed or even temporarily discontinued opera-tions, partly because of slow harvest together with a tendency to delay sale of shelled goods until after the turn of the year. Shelled prices showed more firmness, as occasional sales of No. 1 Spanish brought 16 1-4 cents per tained generally firm to higner trenus last week, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Grain markets reached new high levels and remained strong unrough out the week. Principal strengthening factors included unlavorable condition of the winter wheat crop, short European supplies, and rapidly diminishing domestic reed grains needed for the coming neavy winter leeding season. Texas wheat closed Friday at $3.27 1/2. Activity in southwest cotton markets continued brisk during the week. Farmers offered freely in most sections, as prices advanced around $7.50 per bale.

Eggs and poultry sold steady to firm the past week in good noliday demand. Current receipt eggs brought 47 to 50 cents per dozen at Dallas and Fort Worth and a little more at Denver and New Orleans. Most markets bought turkeys close to support levels. Heavy hens brought mostly 24 to 26 cents but New Orleans paid 30.

Cattle sold generally steady to 50 cents higher compared to a week earlier, the only notable exception being a net loss of 25 to 50 cents at Denver on steers and yearings, which continued scarce at all markets. Common and medium cows brought from $12 to $15 at Texas markets, and $14 to $17 at Oklahoma City. Denver paid

Tough Deer? The Answer Is Venison Sausage

COLLEGE STATION - There is a use for venison that is becoming more and more popular.

Roy Enyder, extension meat specialist and in charge of the animal husbandry meats laboratory for Texas A. & M. College, says that for many years most hunters discarded the cougner parts of the deer — that's the front shanks, lower part of the mind snanks, the neck and lower parts of the ribssince they didn t make good roasts

A few years ago, the laboratory started processing these tough pieces into sausage. Feople liked it. And this season, Snyder says, every hunter that has brought in a deer to him for processing and storing has asked for the sausage

If the sausage is seasoned with sage, it's a lot like pork sausage, but when the sage is omitted, it's like hamburger and can be used in dishes calling for ground meat.

Snyder says for seasoning they use one pound of sait, three ounces of black pepper and three oun ces of sage for 50 pounds of meat. The sage, of course, can be left out. A pound of pork fat is added for every pound of deer meat, and it is ground through the largest grinder plate first, then through the hamburger plate. He says that grinding twice mixes the fat and lean and makes a more uniform seasoned product.

The amount of sausage, course, depends on the size of the deer and the condition of the carcass. A badly shot up animal, or one that has been improperly handled in the field, will yield less edible meat, whether steak, roast or sausage.

EDITORIAL

EDITOR'S CORNER

would like to present Dr. Bruce Thomas, Dean of Trinity University in San Antonio.

Dr. Thomas demonstrated the most remarkable ignorance of the obvious we have seen in some time when, a week ago, he told San Antonio Kiwanians that "on the job training has failed as an educational venture for veterans" and that "important cultural courses, English, philosophy or history are almost being forgotten by veterans who want to swiftly pick up instruction that will enable them to chop out a

Dr. Thomas, safe on the financial terra firma of an educational career with which he has tinkered for some time, would do well to step down from his hallowed dais and look at life as it is today with due consideration to such facts as the recent war which deleted up to six years from the youthful lives of some veterans and then emptied them, older in years, culture and the real kind of education that is not passed out with degree's degrees, into a similar score passed out with doctor's degrees, into a civilian scene where the inhabitants are more dog-eat-doggish than any dogs could ever be.

We are all born with two prospects: the prospect of living, and the less attractive one of making a niving. As a college graduate who majored in philosophy, to me the former prospect seems fairly completely comprised of a family and some good cooking, a few prospects that give hope for the future, (ambitious would-be Midas that I am,) a few friends to quibble with about the football games or what-have-you, a few worries to make things interesting and some definite convictions to stand upon regarding bureacrats, Republicans, etc.

But - one of my best friends was booted out of high school when he was a freshman. He never got a smell of philosophy, and he thinks the same things!

That second prospect — making a living — is the one Dr. Thomas doesn't seem to know much about.

It's a sticker. And it precludes the other. There are many who never have to worry about it — they are born on a gravy train or marry into one, or else

For sheer, head-in-the-clouds idiocy this week we they have certain capabilities that render it something scarcely worth thinking about.

But most of us aren't like that. We have to scratch for dollars to build our homes, to support our families. What's more, we have to start doing it early for the simple reason that the guy next door started early. When we come back from a five year war, we find in many cases that the guy next door not only started when we did, but kept on going while we were off worrying insurance companies on the far-flung battlefields of the world. He's married, has a family, a bank account, training, maybe education, a job or profession and he has no intentions of moving over to make room for some drip with a handful of : ruit salad and maybe a wooden leg.

So what should a vet do? Spend four years in college — another four years out of his life — reading about the Greeks and Romans and critical positivism? Oh, what a big bunch of culture he would get, and at the taxpayer's expense!

Or should he just figure he has enough culture, having roamed the shores of foreign lands and mingled with foreign people, and get busy with some good, sound on-the-job training to help him stand on his own feet and take care of himself? Maybe he is smart enough to realize that culture is - people.

It may be more governmental paternalism, but Uncle Sam got paternalistic in the right spot with his on-the-job training. We can name ten veterans just as fast as it takes to say their names who were completely untrained and unskilled before and after their active service and have already, half way thru their on-the-job program, blossomed out into competent workmen who can produce and earn good money. Two trainees at this shop have received offers recently of $75 and $80 per week, and that is earning power they built up through on-the-job training.

To Doctor Thomas, who calls this program a failure, we shall admit that money isn't everything. It won't buy health, it won't buy happiness, it won't buy peace of mind, it won't buy culture.

But have you ever tried to buy any of those things without money will become angry at us. The more aid you give to an individual and the longer you give it, the more disgruntled he becomes when you stop. This seems to be true of nations. Naturally, now that we have hinted at a little less liberality toward Europe, some have yelled "selfish" and "unsympathetic" at

"The more we give and the longer we give it, the greater will grow this scorn toward the giver. When finally we have to stop the flow of our money toward Europe, anger will be the reaction. That was true after World War I"

George Peck condemns President Truman's proposal for the 'control' of inflation and tells how to "lick" it in these words:

"Simply stated, inflation is caused by an oversupply of money and undersupply of goods. The best way to lick inflation is to increase production so there won't be three or four dollars hanging around the market place to buy each dollar's worth of goods. As long as this condition exists, there will be inflation no matter what controls may be attempted. Controls in such a situation only serve to force a large volume of business outside regular, legitimate channels; into the black market.

According to the San Angelo

Standard-Times Judge Joe G. Montagne, counsel of the Cattle Raisers Association, in an address to a body of County Judges and Commissioners recently, among other

"Return to price controls and rationing will bring "peace time dictatorship" to America.

"Already we hear from many voices and many sources the demand for a return to wartime con-

"Price controls, wage controls, crep confiscation, subsidies in heu of fair prices, and food rationing are again being advocated by a vociferous group of people that is more foreign than it is American, "Dictatorships are conceived by regulations, born in the travail of lost individualism, and feed and live on the submerged, subsidized lives of citizens. We were not lar from dictatorship during the war, a fact that we accepted because of the war, and if there is a return to such controls now we will have peacetime dictatorship.

"The United States is undertaking to feed a world, the large part of which has just been trying to destroy us.

"After the first World War we fed not only our late allies but also our late enemies. And Uncle Sam's hand that held out the feed got well bitten.

"Now we are again feeding the same bitter and merciless enemies and giving away billions to our past ailies and being told that we must give more and more, all out of tax-raised revenue."

Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder of Georgia, discussing in the Georgia Farmers' Bulletin the Marshall plan for fighting Communism in Europe by furnishing financial relief to Europe's needy, uses the following plain language which all of us can well heed. Says Mr. Linder:

"When our government goes out by taxation and takes property from Americans to give to Luro-peans, I think this is the worst kind of communism.

"Every thinking person must know that it is not communism which the national administration

"Communism today is the same that communism was when they were playing the Russian National Anthem in the halls of Washington. The administration did not fear communism then. Neither did they fear Russia because they imagined that Russia was weak.

"The national administration does not fear communism today because most all communistic principles are advocated and practiced by the national administration in Washington.

"The national administration fears Russia in the postwar world because they have been disillusioned as to the strength of Rus-

"All this talk in Washington about fighting Communism is bunk. We are not fighting Communism. We are practicing Communism. We are fighting Russia because we have become afraid of Russia. This is the truth unvarnished. Let us honestly face the facts.

Grell First Santa Winner The Hondo Anvil Horald, Medina County, Texas, Friday, December 12, 1947

BY SANTA CLAUS

Cnly two more weeks to Christmas, kids, and this weekend is your last chance to get in on my Letter to Santa contest — be sure you write this weekend, because the letter has to reach me Monday or before for the last column of letters to come out in next week's paper. Then the grand prize winner will be announced in the Christmas edition.

And the big winner last week was - WILBUR GRELL! We And the big winner last week was — WILBUR GRELL! We sure had a hard time deciding on him because they were all good. So, Wilbur, you go over and see Mr. Harry Kollman at the Western Auto Store in Hondo and he will give you your prize for writing the best letter to Santa Claus in the first week of the contest. BUT TAKE YOUR MOTHER WITH YOU!

But there are prizes for the rest of you too — the ones who wrote letters good enough to get published in the paper — and they're waiting for you down at Hondo's G. & M. Food Store. Herb Moehring at G. and M., has four little packages, one each for ROY MERCER, TOMMY PICHOT, BARBARA ANN WERNETTE and CLYDE BOHMFALK. So you four, take your Mommies with you and go down and see Herb.

Big prize for this week's winner, (who will be announced next week,) will be given through another of my friends, Mr. Bill Windrow over at Windrow's Drug Store in Hondo. Then the prize for the best letter to be printed next week (last chance) will be given through my friend Buster Rath who has the Firesone store up by the courthouse. Buster will also award the grand prize at Christmas time for the best letter of the whole bunch, printed or

But here are the five letters for this week:

DEAR.SANTA, WANT.A.TRYCICLE. IAM.A.LITTLE.BOY. IAMSEVENYEARS.OLD. IAMSEVER LEARS. OLD.

YOUR, LITTLE, FRIEND, JAMES, SCHMIDT.

I am a little boy nine years old For Christmas I would like to have Dear Santa Claus a B-B gun and five boxes of B-B's with it also I would like to have some fire crakers a monoply set and a Mickey Mouse watch. This is all I can think of so I want you to bring me whatever I have carned now I have to say good-by till Christmas.

Always Your Friend Maurice Etter Rt. 1. Box 102 Devine, Texas

I want a pellet gun and a bicycle for Christmas. I hope you will Dear Santa, bring it. I will hang some suasages out for you. I hope they will be good.

Your friend David Bippert Age 9

I hope you will come to our house. If you are not sick, I want a b-b gun and I want aplaycaterpillar. My little wants a doll and a triguela. Prince the poor children want to tricycle. Bring the poor children sum too.

Your Friend Jerry Muennink Age 9

Just a few lines to let you know what I would like for Christmas I would like a bow and arrow, quiter and a trumbone Please do not forget poor little boys girls. Because I know they will enjoy the gift's too I will leave the front door unhooked, and we will put some grands but the true for you candy buy the tree for you.

Love Kenneth Nietenhoefer Age 7

And those area five of the best for this week. There were a couple of other very good ones which will probably go in next week unless the rest of you kinds get busy and write me some real super dupers. REMEMBER, the LAST group of letters will be in next week's paper, so your letters must reach me Monday or before. Just write your letter to Santa Claus, care of The Hondo Anvil Herald, Hondo, and I'll get it all right.

MARTHA HEATH OF NATALIA IN COLLEGE PRESENTATION OF HANDEL'S "MESSIAH"

SAN MARCOS — Martha Heath of Natalia is among the students at Southwest Texas State College who will present the annual Christmas-time production of Handel's "Messiah" in San Marcos on Sunday evening, Dec.

More than 100 students will participate in the chorus and orchestra that will present the "Messiah."

The work of the celebrated German-English composer, Geo.
Frederick Handel, the "Messiah" has come to be associated in the public mind as one of the most popular Christmas-season presentations. It was first given at Dublin on April 13, 1742.

MUMME'S HATCHERY

MANY FACTORS AFFECT LAYING

A laying flock which produces at peak efficiency day after day is a well managed one. The manager of such a flock permits nothing to occur which will disturb his birds' laying ability.

Regular Schedule

There are a good many seemingly harmless factors which can hurt your flock's production record. Failure to maintain a regular management routine is one disturbing influence. Since birds respond favorably to regular habits, it is well for the poultry raiser to plan and maintain a fixed schedule for feeding and egg gathering. Entering the poultry house frequently and at odd hours during the day has the effect of upsetting the layers, causing a temporary slump in production. A planned chore routine is important for the additional reaHONDO, TEXAS son that it enables the poultry raiser to save time and labor.

To some poultrymen the presence of lice and mites are a natural counterpart of poultry raising. Yet these parasites are capable of causing lower eg production and should not be tolerated. There are several different types of commercial mite and lice killers which will help solve your lice or mite problem

Feeding Practices

Another management practice which helps boost production i the feeding of moist mash of pellets during the middle of the day.

Take every precaution to prevent a disease outbreak; dis ease not only hurts egg produc tion but also may prove fate to a number of birds. Frequen cleaning and disinfecting will help keep the house sanitary Good sanitation is the most im-portant part of your disease prevention program.
